

Erasmus+ Teaching Staff
at University of Economics in Katowice- Poland
From 8th to 13th May 2023

The general theme of the week is: Internet Communication Management

The purpose of the event is to enhance international collaboration with our partners primarily in the field of teaching and learning. It will also be an opportunity for meeting and networking.

The topics proposed are interdisciplinary and suitable for both Polish and international students studying at our university in various programmes at the faculties of Informatics and Communication, Management, Economics, and Finance and Insurance. Hence, the lecture content can be either tailored to the needs of a highly specialized group or suited to a wider audience consisting of students of various specialisations.

The foreign lecturers will be asked to deliver a series of lectures (8 or 16 academic hours) to one student group in their respective field.

The courses' proposals are in the table.

The thematic list covers the following topics in two categories:

Management & Marketing	Information Communication Technologies
Cross Culture Business Communication;e-Citizenship; Economics & Management Science Challenges; Ambient Marketing Creative Skills Development Social Networking; Strategy Business Games; Quality 5.0; Society 5.0; Content Management & Digital Rights Management; Data Science & Data Governance; Decision Making in Distributed Environment; Circular Economy	Artificial Intelligence for Business and Services; Smart City; Introduction to Cybersecurity; Information Processing & Data Science Business Modelling; Business Information System Design; Cloud Computing; Information Technology Management; Search Engine Marketing ; Information Retrieval; Knowledge Engineering; Logistics Information Systems; Ambient Technologies & Industry 4.0

The content of the proposed lectures does not have to be limited to the specific topics listed below, as long as it reflects the general theme of the week. Anyway, the proposed course should be original and unique, and not included in the mandatory course lists at any university. We are open for your original courses.

Prospective participants are asked to discuss their topics with the academic coordinator of the International Week:

Please note that lectures and classes need to be delivered in English. However, we leave the choice of teaching methods to the lecturers. Those could be classic lectures, workshops, discussions, projects and/or students' presentations, etc.

We would like to invite the teachers to stay with us for the five days between Monday and Thursday.

Besides teaching, the programme will comprise other activities, including the Scientific Conference, meetings with teaching staff and networking as well as a number of social activities on Friday and Saturday.

Deadline to apply: 15th January 2023
